For President,
ABRAHAM LINCOLN,
OF ILLINOIS.

For Vice President,
HANNIBAL HAMLIN,
OF MAINE.

Republican Presidential Electors.

AT LARGE:
WALTER D. MOINON, of Marquette;
BRADFORD RIXFORD, of Winnebago.

FIRST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:
W. W. Vaughan, of Racine.

SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:
W. Allen Barber, of Grant.

THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:
M. H. Giddens, of Jefferson.

Republican Congressional Convention.

Second District.

A Republican Convention for the Second Congressional District in the State of Wisconsin, will be held at the city of Janesville, on Wednesday the 23d day of August, 1860, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member at Congress of said district, to be supported at the next general election.

Each assembly district will be entitled to two delegates in said convention.

The several assembly district committees are requested to take measures for the appointment of delegates to said congressional convention, from their respective districts.

DAVID ARNOLD, Secy. Dist. Com.

J. M. CLANDIN, Secy. Dist. Com.

Assembly District Convention.

The Republican Convention for the assembly district composed of the towns of Rock, Plymouth, Magnolia, Spring Valley, Newark and Arvon will be held at the village of Rock, on SATURDAY, the 15th day of August, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of electing two delegates to a general district in the Congressional Convention, to be held at La Crosse, on the 23d of the same month. Each town will be entitled to its own representative.

ORRIN GREENEY, Secy. Dist. Com.

D. ALCOY, Secy. Dist. Com.

Rock, July 16th, 1860.

The Prospect of Electing the Republican Candidate.

The presidential campaign has progressed sufficiently, so that we can venture to give a guess as to how it will terminate.

From present appearances no political contingency which is likely to occur can prevent the election by the people, of Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin. No one, we presume, who is not "crazy for Douglas," will deny that Lincoln will carry all the states which voted for Fremont.

These were as follows:

FREMONT STATES IN 1856.

Maine, 8 New York, 33

New Hampshire, 5 Ohio, 23

Vermont, 5 Michigan, 4

Massachusetts, 13 Iowa, 6

Rhode Island, 4 Wisconsin, 5

Connecticut, 6

Total, 114

These states have continued to be republican ever since 1856, and there can be no doubt that all of them will vote for Lincoln.

We have, therefore, 114 votes, as a capital to start upon, or 38 more, to elect him, we will see where that number can be obtained.

We believe the following states will cast their votes for the republican candidates:

Indiana, 13 Illinois, 11

New Jersey, 7 Oregon, 3

Minnesota, 4

Total, 38

These are sufficient to elect our candidates, but to make the matter doubly sure, we have almost a certain prospect of carrying Pennsylvania. Since the desertion of Douglas by Hickman and Forney, and the failure to form a fusion, the fate of the democracy in the "Keystone State" may be regarded as settled, and we put down 27 electoral votes for Lincoln from that state—making his whole vote 179, as follows:

FOR LINCOLN AND HAMLIN.

Maine, 8 Ohio, 23

New Hampshire, 5 Illinois, 11

Vermont, 5 Indiana, 13

Massachusetts, 13 Iowa, 6

Rhode Island, 4 Michigan, 4

Connecticut, 6 Wisconsin, 5

New York, 33 Minnesota, 4

New Jersey, 7 Oregon, 3

Pennsylvania, 27

Total, 179

FOR MR. BRECKINRIDGE.

Alabama, 9 Mississippi, 7

Arkansas, 4 Missouri, 9

Delaware, 3 N. Carolina, 8

Florida, 3 S. Carolina, 8

Georgia, 10 Virginia, 4

Louisiana, 6 California, 4

Tennessee, 12

Total, 100

FOR MR. BELL.

Kentucky, 12 Maryland, 8

Total, 20

FOR GEN. HUNTON.

Texas, 4

FOR STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

It will be seen that we shall be able to elect Lincoln and lose Pennsylvania.

On the other hand, if we carry Pennsylvania, we can lose Illinois, Indiana and Oregon and still elect "Old Abe." On the whole, then, we think there is no chance for his defeat. Our opinion is that the presidential election is practically decided in favor of the republican candidates. There is only one source of danger, and we consider that scarcely worth mentioning; and that is, the efforts of the Douglas men, without giving themselves the least prospect of electing their candidate, may endanger some of the republican states, and thus throw the election into the house, and from thence into the senate, where Joe Lane would be elected. But we rely upon the good sense and patriotism of the people to prevent such a misfortune. Our confidence is strong that the result in November will be as we have estimated it in the above table.

A FORMIDABLE ACCESSION.—The last Iowa State Reporter, published at Iowa City, decided the ablest and most influential democratic journal in that state, announces in its last issue that it will next week drop the names of Douglas and Johnson, and thereafter give an enthusiastic support to Lincoln and Hamlin.

A letter to the London Times, dated Turin, July 6, says:

The plot thickens at Naples. We shall soon, too, probably hear of a sanguinary outbreak. The king hopes to come to terms with his subjects; the ministers endeavor to negotiate with Sardinia; the state of siege has been raised; the storms are lulled for a time. Many of the Neapolitan exiles leave these parts of Italy, availing themselves of the amnesty, some with a view to accept a compromise, some with the hope to hatch a revolution. Count Cavour's cabinet is in a painful dilemma, and the king has been summoned from his hunting-box at Pollenzo to attend their deliberations.

Meanwhile, it has come to my certain knowledge that dark intrigues are about to turn this Neapolitan movement to the advantage of a French prince, and that there are men who have traced plots to a very high personage in France. He has a full knowledge of what is going on, and it is only doubtful whether he forwards the views of this Murat party, or whether he simply watches them for the ultimate purpose of thwarting their progress. What is quite positive is, that secret agents have left Tuscany with arms and money, and all of them are well known partisans of the Murat family. The national idea of Italian unity or unity runs far greater danger in the south of Italy from outward than from internal opposition. The members of the directing committee at Naples, are all Unitarians and Annexationists, to a man. Baron Bellini, at Florence, and his friend Camillo Carracciolo, Marquis of Bella, are staunch to this principle. So are avowedly Baron Porcino and Mancini, in Turin; but many of those who left or are leaving Turin and Genoa, harbor thoughts and feelings quite at variance with these, and look upon annexation as the most impractical chimera. All this bodes no good.

A correspondent of the London News, from Turin, writes as follows:

Many young men have left Turin for Genoa, where they embark for Sicily. A part of them come here from Parma. Two thousand five hundred volunteers will be collected before to-morrow night at Genoa. I regret, however, to say that the latest news received here from Sicily is not good. Since Garibaldi's wonderful triumph, the period has arrived for carrying out the political organization; but the fighter of battles is no adept in politics. Passions, fatal ambitions, and the like, are surging around him, which he, who thinks all men honest and disinterested like himself, is quite unable to allay, and, therefore, discord has begun to show itself even in his camp.

A Palermo letter of the 21st ultimo says:

The plan ordered by Garibaldi, of melting down the church bells to make cannon, continues in active operation. Every one of the churches is to supply at least one bell, and those edifices in Palermo are very numerous. I, this morning, saw twenty-five or thirty of those bells lying in the courtyard of the university, which serves as a barracks, and also seven pieces of cannon and a large pile of balls. The dictator has published a decree ordering the preparation of the electoral list, and when a decision on the annexation will be come to, all citizens of twenty-one years of age are to have a vote either in their commune or at their place of residence. All persons who can read and write, and are twenty-five years of age, are eligible. Towns with less than 10,000 inhabitants are to elect one deputy, and those between 10,000 and 20,000 two; Palermo will elect ten; Messina five; Catania five, and the Island of Lipari two.

DYSPEPSIA AMONG FARMERS.—It is a notorious fact that indigestion prevails more extensively among the farming population of the west than among any other class. Why is this? They certainly take any reasonable amount of exercise, and that too in open air, and in the broad sunlight. Their houses are well ventilated, and by their isolated situation, free from the many unhealthy influences of a pent-up city, they think if one farmer will cause for a moment and look this matter gravely in the face, they will discern the cause of the prevalence of this mother of most maladies among them to be—

1st. The constant use of salt meat, particularly salt pork. It is well known that this abominable swine's flesh, fried in its own filthy grease, constitutes the "staff of life" in nearly every farm house in the Mississippi valley. Hog and hominy are household gods, and according to the Hoosier's creed, indispensable to man's existence.

2d. The use of coffee. The faithful western housewife serves it up "strong and good," morning, noon and night. Reader, just think of it, the vilest of flesh washed into the stomach three times a day by a decoction of narcotic poison!

3d. Rapid eating. We should remember that swallowing one's food is not the first process necessary to healthy digestion. If we had gizzards, we might then swallow our food whole, as ducks do, but instead of gizzards we have teeth, (some of us) and are commanded to use them in grinding food for the stomach, but if we compel the stomach to do both its own work and that of the teeth, it will soon give signs of debility and disease in the shape of acidity, headache, sense of weight over the whole man, irritable temper, despondency, &c.

Our farmers seldom spend more than ten or fifteen minutes at a meal, and then go immediately to the field and engage in the most laborious work. At least one hour should be spent in repose after each meal. This will allow the stomach to collect to itself, so to speak, a due quantity of blood, out of which to elaborate the gastric juice. Violent exercise calls the blood to other parts of the body, and thus robs the stomach.

CIVIL WAR IN ASIATIC TURKEY.—There is waging at the present time in the vicinity of Beirut, and thence extending back to the Lebanon range, a most sanguinary war between the Druses, and the Maronites and Greek Christians. In most cases the Druses (claiming, too, the name of Christians, but having no more right to it than the mere formalism and corrupt Christianity of the eastern sects) are appointed by the Turkish government to lord it over the Maronites and Greeks. A fierce war—even one of extermination so far as the belligerents intend it—is now going on between the two parties mentioned. The worst of it is, the Turkish soldiers and the fanatical Moslems have sided with the Druses, and to-day the mountain sides and valleys of Lebanon are gory with blood. The American missionaries are all safe, they and the American consuls have afforded protection to thousands beneath those stars and stripes, the floating of which is the signal of safety to the poor hard-pressed Maronites and Greeks. The presence of a Russian man-of-war, and the expected visit of a French squadron are having a salutary effect. The "sick man" had better look out, or such massacres, not only permitted by his soldiers, but partly committed by them, will so arouse France and Russia that his (the sick man's) tottering legs will be knocked from under him, and the Ottoman empire will be no more. Turkey in Europe has only 6,001,721 Mussulmen, and has a Christian population amounting to 10,485,679. Asiatic Turkey contains ten millions of nominal Christians and but six millions of Mussulmen. It is often said that the Turks are "more Christians than the Christians," yet the sympathies of the world are against the former.

Would that I had better news where-with to open my letter; but the last intelligence we have here is of the fall of Zahleh, a large Christian town of ten thousand inhabitants, into the hands of those bloody-thirsty hordes of Druses who have invested the town for six days. The Christians fought bravely, but were outnumbered; and of the Turkish troops sent to assist them, half hailed some miles short of the place and the remainder took part against them. But full details are not known yet, although I may be able to supply them ere I close this.

As the Austrian steamer to Trieste was leaving this place on the 16th inst., a boat load of men wearing, not blood-stained, but blood saturated garments, arrived from Tyre. These individuals, only 34 in number, were all that remain of the Christian male population of Hasheiyra, a village at the foot of Mount Hermon, which, a week before, could muster nearly 2,000 fighting men. These poor creatures were the first to bring to Beyrout detailed and true accounts of the blood-thirsty ruffianism of their Druse enemies, and of the fearful treachery of the local Turkish authorities. The tale I give to you is taken from the very words of the men themselves, examined separately by a first-rate Arabic scholar.

Hasheiyra is a beautiful village at the foot of Hermon, and, so far as the source of Jordan. It is, however, not far from the massacre of a population of 6,000 Christian souls, chiefly of the Greek "orthodox" church. To Protestant Christendom, Hasheiyra should be a place of the utmost possible interest, for it was here that the preaching of evangelical truth had borne more fruit than anywhere else in Syria. The Protestants numbered in this village upwards of 2000; they had a native pastor and a regular church of their own—the latter having been built chiefly by their own contributions. Of that Protestant community which a fortnight ago was full of spiritual as well as material life, two men now live to tell the tale of their butchery, whilst of their 4,000 Greek fellow Christian but thirty-three men have survived, and the fate of their wives and children is worse than uncertain.

The village was attacked by an overwhelming body of Druses on Saturday, the 3d inst. The Christians armed to repel them, and for two days held their own, on the third driving back the enemy. Hitherto the commander of the Turkish troops had stood aloof, although—as was the case at Sidon, at Dair-el-Kamur and Hasheiyra—he had troops enough at his command to repel and defeat the Druses, had he so wished. When he saw that the Christians were gaining the day, he called them back, and in the name of the Sultan ordered them to retire within the seraglio, (a large building covering nearly an acre of ground, and containing the residence of the commander, as well as the barracks,) and to give up their arms, as he, the local representative of the government, would conduct them all safe to Damascus, where they would be better off than in Hasheiyra whilst the civil war lasted.

The Christians obeyed him, returned, gave up their arms, which were immediately packed up and sent toward Damascus, but with so absurdly small an escort that the Druses took possession of both the muskets and the mules that carried them within an hour of their leaving the place. The Christians asked again and again to be sent with their families, as promised to Damascus. For nearly a week they were put off with some pretext or other, until, on the sixth day after their being disarmed (during which time the Turkish soldiers had prevented any of them from leaving the precincts of the seraglio,) two Druse sheiks of great influence had arrived, and had a conference of several hours with the Turkish commander of the troops. No sooner was this conference ended than the Christians observed that the harem, (wives, women and children,) as well as the property of the commander, was removed from the seraglio, and that the Turkish soldiers also removed their baggage outside. Suspecting treachery, many of the Christians tried to escape from the place, but were prevented by the bayonets of the troops, whilst their women and children were ordered and compelled to remove to the large upper chambers of the buildings, the men being forced to remain below.

By this time it was known that many hundreds of armed Druses were close to the town. The troops had hardly made the aforesaid arrangements when the Druses were admitted into the seraglio, and rushed like hungry tigers upon the unarmed men in the courtyard. No man was spared. In ten minutes the very stones were an inch deep in human blood. No butchery ever known in history equalled this in ferocity and cowardice. "In half an hour upwards of a thousand strong men were hacked to death. Some few tried again to escape, but were driven back by the bayonets of the Turkish soldiers (regular troops, not Hashibazouks) and the Druses had their revell of blood undisturbed; mothers, wives, daughters, and young children witnessing from above the massacre of their relatives. I could enter into more details, but sickened at the task. Would to heaven that it were a fable or a dream! In the slaughter some few hid in out-of-the-way chambers; others escaped notice from being heaped over by the dead, and these by God's mercy managed in the night to escape, wandered down to the coast, where one Ali Bey, a Mutual chief, protected them, and so to Tyre, where they took ship to Beyrout, and arrived here on Saturday evening, the 16th inst. Of the fate of the women and children nothing is yet certain, but from what is known of Turkish soldiers it is feared that the fate of the former will be one worse than death.—Of the Protestant community not a man escaped, but more than one of the Greek Christian refugees bear witness how they met their fate, exhorting others to turn to the Saviour and to pray to him.

ANOTHER SPEECH BY JOHN HICKMAN.—We printed portions of Mr. Hickman's late speech in the Press and Tribune of yesterday. We copy the following from the Philadelphia Press, a Douglas organ:

After the adjournment of the meeting, Mr. Hickman proceeded to his rooms at the Continental Hotel, where he received a number of his friends. At 11 o'clock the "Invincibles," accompanied by a large crowd of citizens and the Pennsylvania Cornet Band, complimented him with a serenade. In answer to long and repeated calls, Mr. Hickman made his appearance upon the balcony.

Mr. Hickman said he was sorry that the condition of his health, and the condition of his voice alike prevented him from the pleasure which he should have felt in addressing them. He would endeavor, on some future occasion, to make a speech. He had not yet attempted to do so, only as he heard they had an altar in their midst inscribed to the unknown god, he proposed to himself to come down and speak of that unknown god—Stephen A. Douglas. He would continue to do so until the November election, after which they would never hear of Douglas again. [Applause.]

There are thousands now worshipping at his shrine who have not the slightest guess of what his doctrines are, but he assured his hearers that there was no more invulnerable enemy to the interests of the north than Stephen A. Douglas, and he would be utterly exterminated from the north as well as the south. Thanking them for their kindness, Mr. Hickman retired amid great applause.

In the house of lords on the 16th the Earl of Granville stated his belief that the disturbances in New Zealand had been greatly exaggerated.

A debate took place on the Savoy question and policy of England taking part in the proposed conference. In the course of which the annexation of Savoy to France was very generally denounced.

In the house of commons Mr. Roebuck attacked the government for prosecuting an unjust war with China and encouraging the opium trade.

Mr. Gladstone replied, denying that the war was unjust, and asserting that the treaty of Teitsin was as binding an engagement as could be made, and that its ratification was most important.

Mr. Gladstone made a statement of the financial position of the country, proposing to levy an immediate duty of 1s and 1ld per gallon on ardent spirits, which was agreed to.

FRANCE.—The news from France is unimportant.

NAPLES AND SICILY.—Sanguinary combats are reported to have taken place near Messina, between the Neapolitans under Com. Basso, and the advance guard of the Sicilian army.

The British Admiral Mundy had quitted Palermo for Naples, and there were scarcely any but Sardinian vessels in the road.

Garibaldi had expelled foreigners and others from Sicily, for conspiring against orders.

Farine is said to have had full power from Sardinia to assume the title of royal commissioner as soon as annexation was declared.

SYRIA.—The massacres of Christians in Syria are said to reach from 7,500 to 8,000 persons, whilst 151 villages have been destroyed. Sickening details are given of the barbarity inflicted on all ages and sexes.

The ship Squamot of Boston, has been wrecked near Bombay.

Boston, July 30.

An unsuccessful attempt was made Saturday night to throw the New York express train from the track, near Farmington, by placing sleepers across the rails. The train had been running at high speed, being behind time, but the engineers did not shut off steam as it was nearing the depot, when the engine struck 5 sleepers on the track, 3 of them were thrown off the rails but two caught under the cow-catcher, and were borne along till the train stopped; the train rocked fearfully, causing a panic but no damage was done.

Five persons, Mrs. B. Princeau and child, Mrs. J. J. M. Princeau, Mrs. Beaudouin, and Miss Louisa Beaudouin, went over Black River Falls, at this place, in a boat this afternoon and all were drowned. The body of one lady is to be seen hanging upon a rock below the falls, and efforts are being made to reach it.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.

James Valentine, a negro draftsman, was arrested this morning by Deputy Marshal Jenkins, on the supposition that he was Benjamin Hurd, a fugitive slave. On the hearing it was proved that Valentine was a native of New Jersey, and had been a resident here for 30 years, and the case was dismissed. Valentine was tonight handcuffed when he was arrested, and has in consequence commenced legal proceedings against the officers. There is great indignation among his friends.

The Market.

New York, July 30.

Flour market dull and heavy for western, and steady for state. Sales 1300 bbls 5,10 to 5,16 extra, sales 4,85 to 5,00 western 5,00 to 5,25 common to extra western. Wheat market rather more steady, sales 14,000 bushels, 1,21 Mil. club.

CARL SCHURZ AT SPRINGFIELD.—Carl Schurz addressed the German citizens of Springfield, Ill., in the State house on Tuesday evening. Although but limited notice of the meeting had been given, the Hall of the House of Representatives, floor and galleries, was filled to overflowing, with mostly Germans. A procession of Wide Awakes, numbering over three hundred, escorted Mr. Schurz, accompanied by Mr. Lincoln, to the State House. Mr. Schurz spoke to the Germans until a late hour, and in a manner that produced a marked effect.

There is a contest going on in the Twentieth District, between the friends of Mr. Giddings, and of Mr. Hutchins, his successor in congress, in regard to the nomination to be made on the 16th of August, for representative in the next congress. A great effort will be made to return the former to his old place.

DIED.

In this city, this morning, at 1 o'clock, SAMUEL HENRY NOTT, aged 52 years.

The funeral of the deceased will be attended at his late residence, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Potter was the senior member of the firm of Potter & Winslow, attorneys in this city. He was a native of the State of New Jersey, and came to this city in the year 1837. During his residence in this city he attached to himself many warm friends who mourn his death with sincere sorrow, and who will cherish his memory with a lasting recollection of his social virtues, professional acquirements, gentlemanly courtesy and strict integrity. Sad indeed was a summons to the grave created a deeper impression than this.

Visit of the Madison Band of Hope.

To-day the Madison Band of Hope accompanied by the Band of Hope from Black Earth, Dane county, and a large number of the citizens of Madison, visited our city upon an excursion of pleasure. They arrived about ten o'clock A. M., by railroad, occupying seventeen passenger cars, two of which were from Black Earth and Mazo Manie. There were over a thousand persons on the train, a large proportion of whom were children.

They were received at the depot by a committee of citizens, and were conducted to the grounds selected for the exercises of the day by John R. Bennett, Chief Marshal, and his assistants.

The fine grove on the bluff, east of the city belonging to L. F. Patten, Esq., had been selected for the occasion, where the visitors were welcomed by the various Sabbath schools of the city, and a large number of our citizens.

The assembly was called to order by J. R. Bennett, Esq., and the exercises were opened by a prayer by Rev. Mr. Kinney. After which the Madison Band of Hope sang the following:

SONG OF THE MADISON BAND OF HOPE.

BY H. B.

Our Band of Hope now comes to greet you.

A welcome find in every heart;

In happiness we unite to sing you,

Yet sigh to think how soon we part.

Chorus:—We come! we come! we come! with songs to greet you.

We come! we come! we come! we come!

Joined in hand in hand a pledge we've taken,

That we shall never never break!

No clouds our path shall ever darken;

No foe our union ever break.

We come, we come,

We come with songs of joy and gladness,

To welcome you this festival day.

No banish from your hearts all sadness,

And sing with us this joy day.

We come, we come,

Again we'll come! again we'll join you!

Again we'll sing our joyous song.

We'll strive for temperance, truth and virtue,

Till we'll be in heaven our true home.

We come, we come,

H. N. Comstock, Esq., of this city, in an appropriate and beautiful address, welcomed the visitors: which was responded to by S. D. Hastings, Esq., leader of the Madison Band of Hope. His address gave an account of the objects sought to be promoted by the Band of Hope. It is an organization of children for the promotion of temperance. They pledge themselves to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, tobacco and from profanity. Such being the subject Mr. Hastings delivered an able and effective address, closing by thanking the people of Janesville for the liberal and hospitable manner in which the visitors were entertained. Mr. Pickard, the State Superintendent, made a short but very happy speech to the children; after which the assembly separated for dinner. During the exercises Messrs. Wilson, Bennett, Wingate and Jerome, of this city, favored the audience with quartettes, in good style; and the Janesville Band enlivened the scene with instrumental music.

The company separated into numerous parties and partook of refreshments in picnic style, under the shade of the oaks which abound in the grove, enjoying social chat and friendly intercourse. It was indeed a pleasant scene, and one which, we hope will often be repeated in conjunction with our Dane county friends.

The day selected for the excursion was exceedingly fine, and the large and happy company seemed to fully enjoy the festive occasion. Our citizens were gratified in receiving a visit from so large a number of the people of Madison, while to our visitors, we trust, the meeting was pleasant and satisfactory.

The excursionists departed upon the four o'clock train for their homes, where, we trust, they arrived in safety.

MOURNFUL ACCIDENT.—Last Friday an infant child of Mr. James Billings who lives about three miles above Beloit on the Turle creek, was left in charge of a little girl while its mother carried some provisions into the harvest field to the men at work there. When she returned she found the infant dead upon a bed. The little girl left in charge of it had become wearied in attending it and laid it upon the bed, where it had turned upon its face and was smothered. The age of the infant was five months.

The members of the bar will meet at half-past seven o'clock this evening, at the office of S. A. Hudson, Esq., to make arrangements for attending the funeral of Samuel Henry, Potter, Esq.

A Douglas man from Chicago to-day made his appearance in this city, having suspended in the button hole of his coat, a picture of this recently deceased politician. From the fact of its being the only one of that kind in this vicinity, we presume the individual who has it will be quite willing to let the intimate friends of the once glorious man see the remains free of charge!

Movements in the right direction are being made for the suppression of the liquor traffic in our city. The efforts made are by appealing to man's better nature, from the pulpit. As an example of its necessity, we have only to point to yesterday. We have not seen so much drunkenness in a whole year as fell under our eye during about three hours of the day yesterday. All of the groceries upon one of our principal streets were open, and brawling, noisy crowds filled them. Upon the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, divine service was being held; and during its progress a man so drunk that he could scarcely stand, made his way into the audience and greatly disturbed the service. Such wanton disregard of the rights and privileges of peaceable citizens, both by the seller and drinker, should not go unrewarded by a punishment commensurate with the wishes of a large majority of the people—abolishing these dens entirely and effectually.

Meeting at Edgerton.

EDITOR'S GAZETTE.—We had a first rate meeting at Edgerton on Saturday evening last. Considering the state of the weather the audience was large, and as Edgerton audiences always are it was an appreciative one. Dr. R. B. Trent was first introduced to the audience, and favored us with an excellent address upon the political topics of the day. The Dr. received many merited compliments for his effort. C. G. Williams followed, and as usual, seemed to be at home on the rostrum, and made one of his happiest efforts.

The republicans of Fulton are armed and you may rest assured that she will be redeemed at the coming election. Your suggestions in regard to organizing the towns and holding meetings in every school district are favorably received, and the canvass is completed, and the right sort of an effort is being made. It is the intention also to get up the meetings as you suggest. Success to the noble republicans of Fulton.

Yours,

FULTON.

WOOD'S MINSTRELS.—This band of minstrels give their first entertainment to-night at Lippin's Hall. They stand at the head of minstrelsy in the Union, and those who love a broad burlesque, in connection with genuine melody, cannot fail to be pleased. To-morrow night, an entire change of programme will be presented.

HIGH PRICES FOR HORSES.—Agreeable to notice, the sales of horses belonging to R. S. Denny, Esq., of Clappville, Mass. took place on the 6th inst. We were unable to attend, but have been informed by several gentlemen who attended, that the company was large, considering that the day was very rainy, and the sale was satisfactory to all parties. Twenty animals brought an aggregate of $15,267—an average of $763 each. We can only notice a few of the prominent items. Miles Standish four years old, by Black Hawk, dam Mary Taylor, a very superior colt, entire, sold to E. D. Bush, of Shoreham, Vermont, for $2,400. John Allen, three years old, to N. H. Hill, of Boston, for $1,050. Garibaldi, two years old, by Ethan Allen, from the same dam as above, was bought by Mr. Hill for $1,000. Pocahontas, the celebrated pacing mare, was bought by E. E. Bush, of Shoreham, Vt., for $3,450. Nison, Pocahontas's foal, by Ethan Allen, was sold to E. Sargent, of Leicester, for $2,300. Mary Taylor, eighteen years old, sold to S. F. Bucklin, of Marlboro, for $400—cheap enough, if she runs a few more fairs. Narmeka, a pacing mare, thirteen years old, with a colt at foot by Miles Standish, sold to Joseph Burnett, of Southboro, for $410. Priscilla, a yearling filly from the above, by Ethan Allen, sold to T. S. Lang, of Vassalboro, Me., for $475.—Boston Cultivator.

Life Insurance.

Those desiring this safe and cheap protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company, which has already become, in reality, a household name, having agents and patrons among the best business men at all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state. While daily demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confidence that success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprejudiced" of us, would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAUGHTY, President.

A. W. HALLGREN, Secretary.

Geo. Mears, Dwyer & Hallow, produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and will also be happy to give information as to the conditions thereof, to any one desirous of being informed, in Janesville.
